IAMU AGA 2022

Batumi, Georgia

Dr. Baylon served as the Chair of the Social Sciences Category and a member of the IAMU 2022 International Scientific Programme Committee during the conference held on October 20, 2022. The sessions featured 11 outstanding parallel paper presenters from various countries including Bulgaria, Georgia, Poland, Germany, India, Turkey, Ukraine, and Croatia.

In this role, Dr. Baylon facilitated both the morning session (6 presenters) and the afternoon session (5 presenters), actively moderating discussions, guiding the presentations, posing questions, and summarizing the key points of the academic discourse. A highlight of the event was the one-hour plenary academic discussion, where participants attending both online and in person actively engaged by asking questions and sharing their insights. Dr. Baylon concluded the session by thoughtfully summarizing the key discussions before the sessions officially ended.

The conference day proved to be exciting and productive, made possible with the technical support of BSMA, particularly Ms. Ana, who also assisted in capturing souvenir photographs. Dr. Baylon was also pleased to see JBLMU Capt. Luis Evidente participate online during the event.
